

IEEE Code of Conduct

Protect the safety, health, and welfare of the public. Disclose factors that may endanger the public / environment.

Improve the public's knowledge on capabilities and implications of technologies.

Avoid risks wherever possible, and disclose those that do exist.

Avoid unlawful activity & not take bribes.

Receive and give useful honest constructive criticism & credit others.

Only undertake tasks for others that you are capable of. Inform them of your limits.

to not engage in discrimination of peoples.

to not engage in harassment or bullying.

To not injure others, their property or their reputation through false actions or abuses.

To ensure colleagues are also upholding the code of conduct.